

Navigating the Undergraduate Classroom

Strategies, Tips & Lessons from the Field

Pedagogical differences between the Japanese educational system and those of other countries can raise a variety of challenges for international faculty teaching in the undergraduate classroom. In this upcoming roundtable, we will strategize on a range of topics to support our teaching: lesson planning for small classes, shaping up the traditional lecture, using intelligent software, support for non-native English students, and more. We will open the floor to each question, so bring your own ideas and tips!

Thursday, June 1st

In-person and Hybrid

16:40—18:00 (Doors open at 16:30)

Stay around for a casual reception afterwards!

Roundtable Participants

Caleb Carter

(Faculty of Humanities)

Johan Lauwereyns

(Arts and Science)

Natalie Konomi

(Global Strategies Office)

Jose Caaveiro

(Pharmaceutical Science)

Program

16:30	Doors Open
16:40	Opening Remarks
16:45	Roundtable Discussion
18:00	Closing Remarks
18:15	Informal Reception

(*The venue will close at 19:00.)

Venue: ITO GUEST HOUSE and Online

(*Capacity; about 45 people)

Pre-registration

*Click or Scan the QR code !

In-person

OR

Online

Note:

- You will receive the link for the Zoom meeting from “no-reply@zoom.us” after the registration, if you choose the online.
- Registration information will be used internally.
- This webinar will be recorded, and the recording will be open to members in Kyushu University after the event.

Contact : SHARE Office

share-event@jimu.kyushu-u.ac.jp

About SIAG and its activities ↓

<https://www.isc.kyushu-u.ac.jp/intlweb/en/teacher/siag>