

Attracting global talent and making Kyushu University internationally competitive

The main aim of this FDE is to discuss the elements affecting the good international reputation of Kyushu University and how could increase the number of globally talented students, researchers and academics at Kyushu University.

We believe that Kyushu University has great potential to be one of the top world universities in the future because we have a strong and huge infrastructure as well as fantastic researchers and professors.

It is also well known that the Japanese system is working well, but it is very hard for international academics and students to adapt to the Japanese system within a short period. Our excellent international reputation at Kyushu University will come from two sides; first, our research outputs, and second our ability to establish a comfortable environment and smooth life for international academics, students and researchers.

Date Thursday, January 25
& 12:00 - 13:00
Venue Online (Zoom Meeting)

Coordinators

Eljamal Osama
Associate Professor,
Engineering Sciences

William KF Tse
Associate Professor,
Agriculture

Program

12:00	Zoom Meeting Open
12:05 - 12:10	Opening Remarks
12:10 - 12:25	Assoc.Prof. Osama's session
12:25 - 12:40	Assoc.Prof. William's session
12:40 - 12:55	Open discussion
12:55 - 13:00	Closing Remarks

Registration

Click or Scan the QR code !

Note:

- After registering, you will receive the link for the Zoom meeting from "no-reply@zoom.us"
- Registration information for internal use only
- This event will be recorded; the recording will be available only to members in Kyushu University after the event.