Individual consultation sessions for each graduate school

- Graduate School of Humanities

This presentation concerns the Graduate School of Humanities' International MA Program and Doctorate in Japanese Humanities, which is taught in English and focuses on Japanese history, art and architectural history, religion, and history of ideas.

- Graduate School of Design

We bring together a diverse community of scholars and practitioners across science, engineering, humanities, social sciences, and the arts. This interdisciplinary environment supports innovative education and research, nurturing individuals who can go on to create new value around the world. We aspire to become a leading international hub for design research and education by broadening our research domains and strengthening global partnerships.

- Graduate School of Bioresource and Bioenvironment

Join our session if you are interested in earning degrees in English in a highly motivated global community!

- Career Support for International Students

Kyushu University offers comprehensive career support for international students aspiring to work in Japan. Our programs include job-hunting seminars, Business Japanese courses, tailored career counseling, and opportunities to meet companies actively recruiting global talent. We also provide guidance on Japanese job-hunting practices and support students in building essential skills for their future careers. Join us and take the first step toward achieving your career goals in Japan.
